

Calacatta Oro

A touch of class - Stone of London complete elegant traditional kitchen installation

Leading stone fabricator Stone of London has completed the stunning installation of marble worktops and focal Island unit for a striking residential kitchen project. The traditional kitchen design features Calacatta Oro, a classic white marble that exudes elegance. Calacatta Oro is a beautifully sophisticated Italian marble that combines an off-white base colour with trademark grey veining.

The classical kitchen design features several worktops, a statement island feature, and sturdy dark wood cabinets with inset column detailing. The dark wood cabinets are beautifully offset by the spectacular white Calacatta Oro and grey veining. The worktops feature a built-up edge profile, 20mm and 20mm thick marble to form a 40mm thick surface with Ogee edge profile. The ornate Ogee edge profile adds further luxury and distinction to the unique Calacatta Oro marble surface.

Stone of London were chosen to carry out the templating, fabrication and installation of the spectacular marble surfaces for this elegant residential project. The Stone of London team has experience of sourcing, fabricating and installing a large range of stone surfaces and tiles, whether marble, granite or quartz. Kitchen worktops is just one area of specialism, Stone of London are experienced residential and commercial fabricators having completed numerous project types.

We selected Stone of London for their knowledge and installation experience. Working with such a beautiful material like marble requires experienced hands, and Dan and his team did a great job with close attention to detail. We're really pleased with the overall look and feel, especially the edge detail. The worktops have brought the kitchen design together and certainly create the wow factor we were after.
